

E-Procurement

"How many hours do you spend researching before you make a purchase and does that benefit your core business functions?"

"How many hours do you spend researching before you make a purchase and does that benefit your core business functions?" Ciptakarya takes a vested interest in your business and technology needs. Where most companies call around to several vendors for quotes and spend countless hours in sales calls to find the best products, Xonicwave takes care of those tasks for you and allows you to concentrate on your core business. We even handle the negotiations of any contracts. We'll find you the best solution and price and present it for your approval. Ciptakarya is vendor neutral, enabling us to focus on services and solutions. They have formed many alliances, allowing them to recommend solutions that meet the client's business goals, objectives, budgetary requirements and technology needs. Unlike most VARs, we don't make any money on the sale of equipment. We look out for your best interests, not ours.